QUINCY CANNOT BE FOUND HERE OR IN BOSTON

He Left His Residence in Hub Early Yesterday Morning and No Tidings Whatever Have Been Heard From Him Since.

DENNELL'S CONFESSION INVOLVES HIM BADLY.

An effort on the part of Assistant District-Attorney Murphy to reach Josiah Quincy, the former Mayor of Boston, to-day and question him about his dealings with O. M. Dennett and W. O. Douglas, under arrest for robbing the Trust Company of America, brought to light the fact that Mr. Quincy has gone into retirement. He left his home in a suburb of Boston early Sunday morning and the detectives in the case have been unable to locate him since.

News that Mr. Quincy had left Boston was sent to Mr. Murphy by detectives he had despatched to that city. Mr. Quincy has a house in New York, at No. 118 West Fifty-ninth street. Detectives sent there and to the Manhattan Club were unable to locate him or to secure any clue as to his whereabouts.

The District-Attorney is anxious to bonds. Of these, $300,000 worth were questioned. Mr. Quincy upon points in found under the mattress of Dennett's bed in his room at the Manhattan Club. Dennett and Douglas. These thefts amount to some $800,000 worth of

GOOD THING ON SENATOR CLAY GOES WRONG

Colt Was Well Backed, but Failed to Finish in the Money.

JOHNSON LOST $10,000.

Millionaires Witnessed Lively Row in Paddock Between Trainer and Rubber.

(Special to The Evening World.) JAMAICA RACE TRACK, April 29.—Possessed of a frantic desire to plunge on the added entry, Senator Clay, in the fourth race, the public at the track to-day followed the lead of the equally magnified "wise ones" and pelted the bookies with a ton of money on the colt. Backed from 6 to 1 to 7 to 5 at the close, Senator Clay went to the post bearing the confidence of thousands of bettors, but he proved untrustworthy. The colt finished fourth though he would have been better but for the start. Coming to life out of the "cave of the gloom" at the head of the stretch and running with irresistible speed over the top of the others, he could do no better than fourth. They're Off winning in a drive from Oraculum, who beat George S. Davis by a snout.

Andrew Miller, Blair Painter, the Pittsburgh multi-millionaire, and Francis C. Bishop, known to New York and Paris were among the spectators of an exciting paddock embroil yesterday.

Strang and Dahlen were the entries for Boston. The Giants returned from their trip in the best of physical condition, and McGraw says they are in shape for putting up a strong fight for the lead during their long stay at home.

First Inning.

Ames began the game by striking out Bates and Tenney was disposed of on a short grounder to Dahlen. Beaumont also went out on strikes. NO RUNS.

Shannon lifted a high foul to Browne and Strang popped a weak shot to Bridwell. Devlin walked on four wide ones and was caught napping off first.

Pfeffer to Tenney to Richey. NO RUNS.

Tenney took exception to some remark made by Trainer "Tom" Walsh. The latter ordered the man back to the barn when the fellow struck Walsh, knocking him down. When Walsh rose he was again felled by a blow. Fred Burley rushed upon the rubber and the fellow sneaked off. The millionaires assed several Pinkerton men to arrest the ruber, but Walsh would make no complaint.

The other members of the pack were bunches too, at the end. John Johnson with four smooth-faced commissioners who looked like Wall Street sharks, had the right to a free hand with $100,000 divided among the quarter of agents. They took any and every old price until all was down.

It developed that following a dinner at the Hotel Astor, New Castle style, a ruber who had imbibed too freely took exception to some remark made by Trainer "Tom" Walsh. The latter ordered the man back to the barn when the fellow struck Walsh, knocking him down. When Walsh rose he was again felled by a blow. Fred Burley rushed upon the rubber and the fellow sneaked off. The millionaires assed several Pinkerton men to arrest the ruber, but Walsh would make no complaint.

Johnson got a corking home run off Ames in the fourth inning and started ball rolling for the visiting team.
